

Photosynthesis is how green plants make food. Leaves have chlorophyll which helps absorb sunlight. Plants use carbon dioxide and water to make glucose. Oxygen is also released during this process.